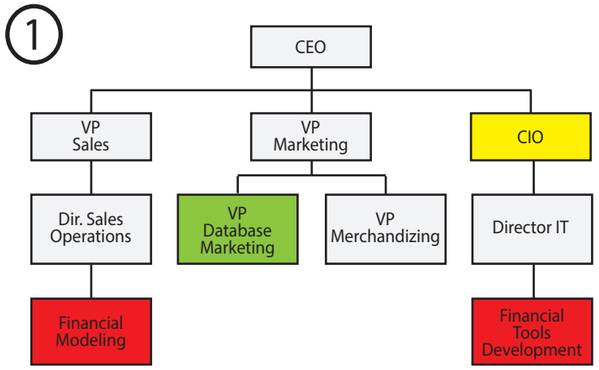
Stage 1-2

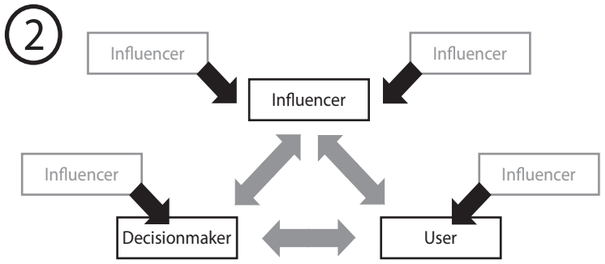
①



- Our potential customer
- In house competition
- Issues to be addressed before a sale

1. Get a copy of the company's organization chart. If you can't get one, figure it out.
2. Find the key persons in the company.
3. Define relations in the company and draw the influence map.
4. Repeat steps 1 to 3 for each one of your potential customers.
5. Make customer profile (Empathy map) for each potential customer.

②



③

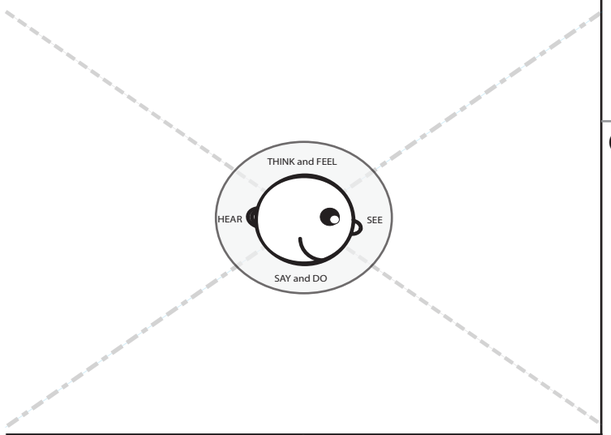
	Functional	Technical
High	Executive 1 → 2	CIO or Division IT executive
Low	End users 3 → 4	Corp. IT staff or division IT

PICTURE

Name:
Title/ Key role:
Age:
Gander:
Other relevant facts:

As <persona>,
I want <what>
so that <why>.

Characteristics and lifestyle



PAINS | GAINS

Problems

Problems the presona have, that your solution solves for.

Journey Stories

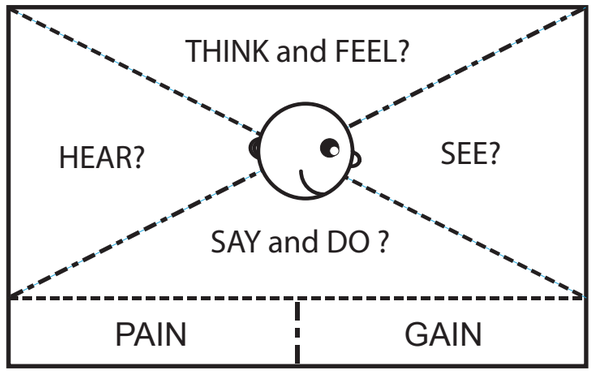
Existing behavior they exibit now, because they don't have your solution.

Goals/Benefits

Why woud the persona want to buy or use the product? What benefits dose the persona want to achieve? If there are multiple benefits, identify the main one and put it on the top.

Triggers/Emotions

Which events trigger a buying cycle?



1. What does she see?

- What does her environment look like?
- Who surrounds her?
- Who are her friends?
- What types of offers is she exposed to?
- What problems does she encounter?

2. What does she hear?

- What does her friends/spouse say?
- Who really influences her and how?
- Which media channels are influential?

3. What does she really think and feel?

- What is really important to her? (which she might not say publicly)
- Imagine her emotions. What moves her?
- What might keep her up at night?
- Try describing her dreams and aspirations.

4. What does she say and do?

- What is her attitude?
- What could she be telling others?
- Pay particular attention to potential conflicts between what a customer might say and what she may truly think and feel.

5. What is her pain?

- What are her fears?
- What are her frustrations?
- What obstacles are stopping her?

6. What does she hope to gain?

- What does she truly want or need to achieve?
- How does she measure success?
- Think of some strategies she might use to achieve her goals.